AVIAREPS launches new financial services offering

Wholly-owned subsidiary Air Services GmbH to process aviation tax for international airlines in Germany

9 February 2011

AVIAREPS is expanding its financial services portfolio. With immediate effect, Air Services GmbH – a wholly-owned subsidiary of AVIAREPS – will act as “fiscal agent” and official representative of international scheduled airlines who are obliged to pay the new aviation tax in Germany from 1 January 2011. The new law stipulates that all airlines whose registered office is outside the Federal Republic of Germany and who fly into Germany must appoint a “fiscal agent”.

Air Services offers international scheduled airlines this very service – along with an extensive portfolio of services to meet both legal obligations and also airlines’ own requirements. Clients can choose between an integrated package and a customised service concept. In addition to administrative tasks such as registration, filing monthly tax returns, correspondence, attendance at tax audits and archiving, Air Services assumes responsibility, together with the airline, for submission of evidence and also assumes joint and several liability for aviation tax.

With its many years' experience representing airlines, Air Services GmbH offers clients expert support and advice. AVIAREPS represents more than 80 airlines across the globe, including 30 on the German market.
